Port of Olympia Commissioners adopted a resolution authorizing temporary modification to real estate leases and liveaboard moorage in response to the outbreak of COVID-19

OLYMPIA – On March 31, the Port of Olympia Commissioners passed a resolution authorizing temporary modification to real estate leases and liveaboard moorage in response to the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak.

Port Commission resolution 2020-04 authorizes the Executive Director to suspend the issuance of notices of default, late fees, and penalties for nonpayment of rents for those Port tenants which are adversely impacted by the COVID-19 crisis.

For Swantown Marina vessel owners whose vessel is their primary residence, and previously approved with liveaboard status, Resolution 2020-04 authorizes the Executive Director to suspend the impoundment and sale of the vessel if the owner has been adversely impacted by the Covid-19 crisis.

Any Port tenant or liveaboard seeking these suspensions or deferrals will need to provide self-certification of the adverse impact of the Covid-19 crisis on their inability to pay rent or moorage. Port tenants and liveaboards who qualify for this suspension will not be charged interest and/or lease reinstatement fees.

The authority provided in resolution 2020-04 will not extend to termination for any other reason other than nonpayment of rent for qualified Port tenants or liveaboard Vessel Owners.

Resolution 2020-04 takes effect immediately and will be in full force and effect for 90 days, unless otherwise terminated or extended by the Port Commission.
