Articulations with colleges provide dual - credit opportunities

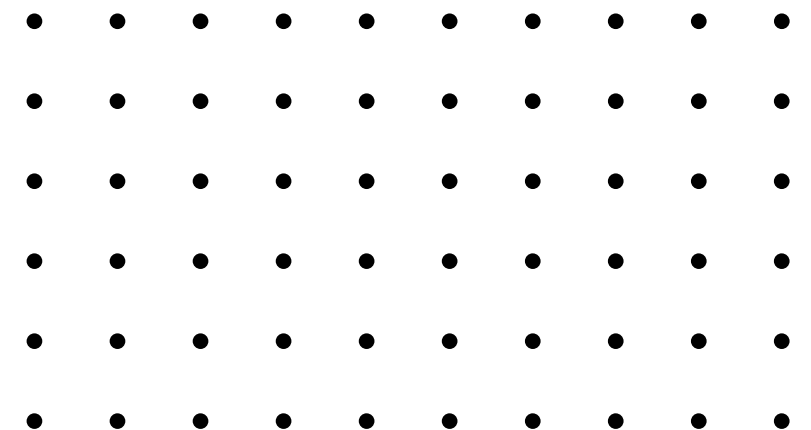

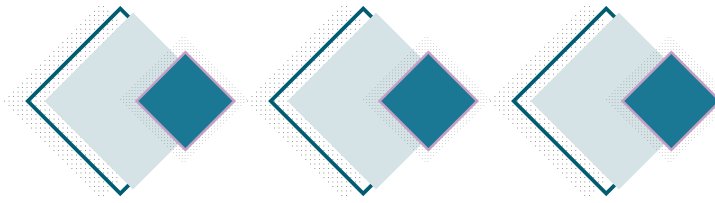

Washington State Institute for Public Policy

According to a 2024 study performed by the WSIPP, skills center students:

- Maintain higher on-time graduation rates (89%)
- Are more likely to earn an industry-recognized credential (IRC) while in high school
- Enroll in more dual credit courses
- Have higher post-graduation employment rates than non-skills center students

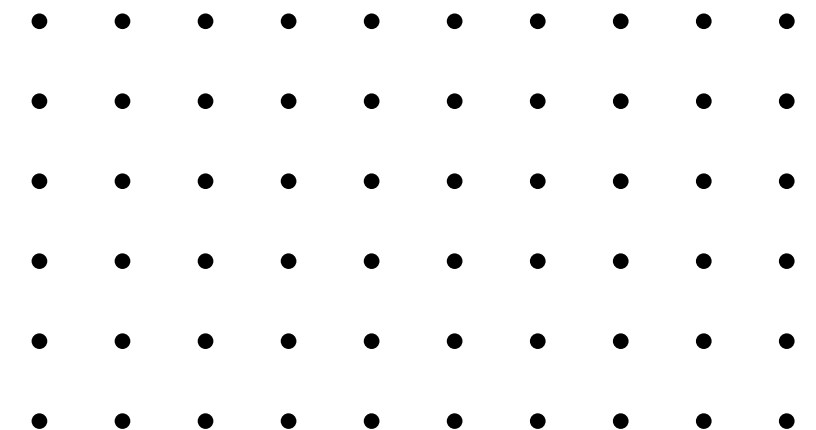

New Market Needs You!

- Buildings A, B, C are original 1986 construction
 - Undergone No Modernization (despite requests)
 - Funding comes directly from legislature capital budget
