During the 2-hour outdoor walking tour students will see various stages of the log cargo operations, learn how Thurston County is connected with the global trade network, and how various modes of transportation move goods to their final destination.

From elementary to high school, each student will leave with a basic knowledge of global trade, the operations of a working waterfront and the economic value that ports provide the community.

Book your free class tour today. Tours will be scheduled on a first-come, first-served basis and according to Port availability. Transportation funds are available upon request.
